Abstract:	 This anthology represents the diversity in: literatura, topics, ways of addressing those topics, and finally, the diversity in our school. In these present times, taking into account the vast richness of humanity is crucial to understand the complex world we live in, and build new ways of coexisting.   This anthology is divided into six sections. The first two were written by second semester students. Their topics are: Epic Stories and Chemical Reactions, both are related to their current lessons on World Literature and Chemistry. The following three sections – Mars, A Genie in a Bottle?, and Time Travelling- were written by fourth semester students, the categories are the product of the Creative Writing workshop; and finally, the last category that falls into no categories: Free Style! In which students from any semester take part, especially those that are currently in sixth semester.
